NO. 69.

Oh, My Back!

MISCELLANEOUS.

That's a common supression and has a world of meaning. How much suffering is summed up in it.

The singular thing about it is, that pain in the back is occasioned by so many things. May be caused by kidney disease, liver complaint, consumption, cold, rheumatism, dyspepsia, over-work, nervous debility, &c.

Whatever the cause, don't neglect it. Something is wrong and needs prompt attention. No medicine has yet been discovered that will so quickly and surely cure such diseases as Brown's Iron Bitters, and it does this by commencing at the foundation, and making the blood pure and rich.

> Wm. P. Marshall, of Logansport, Indiana, writes: " My wife has for many years been troubled from pain in her back and general debility incident to her sex. She has taken one bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters, and I can truthfully say that she has been so much benefited that she pronounces it the only remedy of many medicines she has tried."

Leading physicians and clergymen use and recommend Brown's Iron Bit-TERS. It has cured others suffering as you are, and it will cure you.

The Shah as an Art Critic,

A young French painter was show-ing the Shah of Persis his picture of "Herodias bringing in the head of John the Baptist." The Shah asked him how many minutes were supposed to have passed since the head was cut off. "Two minutes," said the painter. The Shah then told him that the lips ought to be wide open and of an ashy white. As the artist was unwilling to be convinced, the Shah clapped his hands, and a slave ap-pearing, drew his sword and with one tremendous sweep severed his head from his body. He then pulled out his watch and two minutes after stooped down, picked up the bleeding head, and, walking to the picture, held the real head by the side of the painted one, and said to the Frenchman: "Monsieur, you can see for yourself that the lips ought to be wide and said to the side of the painted one, and said to the Frenchman: "Monsieur, you can see for yourself that the lips ought to be wide apart and ashy white, and you will learn to believe the Shah in fu-Then he tossed away the head and calmuly walked out, leaving the painter, more dead than alive, to take himself and his unfortunate picture back to his own apartments. The shock was so severe to the painter's nerves that he became hysterical and remained so for months, unable to do any work. The Shah conferred decorations and titles upon him, which cost him pothing, and, giving him just enough money to take him home, allowed him to leave Persia, and he now occupies a studio in the Palais Royal in Paris.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Leading whisky and tobacco men are besieging Congress for a reduction of taxes on their articles of commerce; and the latter want the import duty on tobacco raised, because Sumatra tobacco is preferred to the home product. That is, they want to pay no internal revenue tax, and yet request that the duty on imports be increased. so that they may have things all their own way. The consumers of whisky and tobacco can well afford to pay the present tax upon these luxuries, for luxuries they are. The two articles yield an annual revenue of over $100.-000,000. This revenue is so large, that if the tax was removed, part of it at least would have to be made up on other articles. A good way to do Pacific coast. would be to repeal the tax on matches, bank checks, medicine, etc., cut down the tariff on sugar and other necessaries, and allow the tax on whisky and tobacco to remain as it is.

DEATH OF TRENOR W. PARKE A Successful Speculator Stricken with Paralysis. NEW YORK, Dec. 20.

Trenor W. Parke died of paralysis on the 15th instant, on board the steamer City of Para, bound for Aspinwall. His body has been embalmed and will be returned from Aspinwall on the steamer San Blas, which arrives here about January 1. Parke achieved a national reputation by his connec-tion with the famous Little Emma mine, of Utah. A few days ago he was paid several million dollars, purchase money for his interest in the Panama Inter-Ocean Ship Canal Company. Up to the time of his death Parke was President of the Panama railroad, in which, it is said, he held $2,500,000 of stock. He was interested in several Vermont railroads, was a Director of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, and also of the Wall Street Bank, and of the Hudson River Tunnel Company. His wealth is estimated by intimate friends to have been $5,000,000. He leaves a young widow, to whom he was mar-ried about six months ago, and three daughters and a son. He was an old Californian and well known on the

NEW YORK, Dec. 21. Parke made a fortune out of the sale of stock of the Panama Railroad Company to the DeLesseps Canal Company last year. The price agreed upon for the railroad stock was $250, but this was exclusive of cash assets in the company's hands, which amounted to about $40 per share more. Parke held at the time nearly 15,000 shares of Panama stock, on which he received stock than ever before. He died worth probably $7,000,000, although intimate riends estimate his fortune considerably higher. Throughout his connection with the Panama railroad he was the dominant power and to him, more than to any other one man, probably, was due the success of the company.

The Tribune says: His career was on the whole, successful. later years were full of kindly deeds. The Times says of Park: The purchase of the Emma mine and its sale to English capitalists in conjunction with General Schenck was an operation which brought him into unenviable notoriety. WASHINGTON, Dec. 20. Conkling's dignity received a severe shock on the way from New York. Conkling took the cars at Jersey City and got into the wrong Pullman seat. A young fellow, a bantam sort of a man, soon approached the ex-Senator, looked at the number on the chair, gazed at the occupant a moment in a cool, half-impudent sort of a way, and said: "It seems to me you have got plenty of cheek."

Conkling looked at the little man noment with a haughty stare and reolied: "I do not understand your

I've paid my money for that seat, and I don't intend to be imposed upon and forced to give it up by any dignified old cock like you. Get out as soon as you can. Here, hold my overcoat a will show you my number.'

With this the little man threw his overcoat over Conkling's knees and proceeded to search for his ticket. He scon found it and quickly proved that the seat was his. Conking arose and offered an apology for having made the mistake

The discovery of Fred Gebhardt's name on the register of Bellevue, where Mrs. Langtry is stopping, caused a thrill of excitement in society circles this morning that was not at all lessened when it was learned hey had b fasted together. COMSTOCK FRAUDS. Swindling Stockholders-Belcher and Crown Point Mines Selling Thirty-Dollar Ore for Four Bits

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20. At an executive meeting of the San Francisco Stock and Exchange Board to-day the investigating committee presented the following report, which was received and placed on file:

To the San Francisco Stock and Exchange Board - Gentlemen: Your committee desire to report progress, and submit the following: Attention having been called to the Bullion Mining Company, we have had partial examination made of their man agement. We find no work done or the mine for about ten months The mine is now in charge of a watchman. We consider the management recklessly extravagant and characterized by a total disregard of the rights of stockholders. With reference to the Belcher and Crown Point mines the Belcher has produced from May, 1881, to December, 1882, 28,154 tons of ore, the value of which we are unable to determine such evidence as we could obtain plac sng the value at from $30 to $40 per ton. This ore was sold in the mine for 50 cents per ton and parties mining said ore were allowed to use the company's shaft and works to raise the ore to the surface. We find that the Crown Point mine produced from March, 1881, to December, 1882, 68,457 tons under similar conditions and it was also sold for 50 cents per ton. These mines are producing about 5,000 tons per month on the same terms as before stated. The Crown Point company pays tax, office $125 per month. These two mines are managed badly, and with a total disregard of the rights of stockholders. Many other matters need mention that must be deferred to a later date. consider the proxy system one of the greatest evils in the business, enabling people to control mines and run them n their own interest who do not own stock, we earnestly recommend that the Board take some action in the matter for the better protection of stockholders. Many of the newspapers are discussing the question of what it costs to live. The cost of living depends en-tirely upon the kind of a house a man lives in, and what he eats and drinks The cost is considerably lessened if the groceries are purchased men to supply a superior quality of butter. OLEOMARGARINE

Bull's Fat and Cow's Cream are Identical, it is said, but Nevada Dairymen Won't Believe it.

The dairymen of California held convention in San Francisco last week, when the oleomargarine question was discussed. In 1869 the French government commissioned a chemist to substitute for butter. He imitated the natural process, and obtained the product against which so much opposition is now shown by dairymen. Some of the best known scientists have placed themselves on record to the effect that oleomargarine, from a light of analytical chemistry, is essentially the same product with what is known in commerce as butter. The constituents of the two are the same and both contain water, the soluble and insoluble fats, casein, salt and coloring matter in such relatively equal proportions that the analysis of the one might stand for the analysis of the other. Butter is

THE FAT OF THE COW

The Reno schools will close from Held in solution so long as that cow is alive. It is in the form of fat globules in cellular tissues, congregating chiefly in the udder. The fric-tion of the hand in pulling the teat draws the milk and with the milk there comes a small percentage of the fat, oily globules. The agent of the oleomargarine manufacturers says: "I protest against the method you practice for obtaining butter as a violation of a law of nature. It was the design of nature that the mother of all animals should suckle her young, and the teats of the cow were given her for the calf to take and not as a machine by which the hand of man should despoil the udder of its contents. might even go further and say that the reason we, the beef eating we, do not get our beef from cows is simply because they have been ROBBED OF THEIR FAT That you might make butter. Now, if by science we have discovered a way by which we can produce from the fat of the steer a substance essentially the same as that which you produce from the fat of which you rob the cow and for which you practice wholesale calf-slaughter; if we can produce a wholesome substitute—as we do—which we can place before the public at a much less price than butter made by the old method; if we do this surely it is a retrograde step for those who consider themselves the enlightened men of this last quarter of the nineteenth century to endeavor to restrict an honest and important industry."

AS AN ARTICLE OF COMMERCE Oleomargarine has been known since 1874, and during that time millions of pounds of beef fat have been utilized and immense quantities of the oil shipped to Holland, where it is worked hato an article called butterine, and sold in England. In eighteen States it is now manufactured at the rate of 259,000,000 of pounds per year, and the business is still growing. At the end of eight years of opposition elec margarine is known throughout the world as an article of commerce. Mr. Mege, the man who discovered the process of manufacturing it, was highly honored as a scientist by the French Government. It is recognized to-day in France as an article essentially the same as the best butter; and the same duty is levied on both. This does not em as if oleomargarine was a matter of transieut interest. OPPOSITION TO BULL BUTTER. Notwithstanding the plausible show ing made by the promoters of the bull butter speculation, dairymen all over the coast are organizing to drive it from the market, and if they make a united effort they will succeed. But' very little of it has been offered in Reno, for the reason that our dealers and consumers patronize dairymen of the adjacent valleys, who are known to produce a pure article of butter, which can hardly be imitated. The manufacturers of oleomargarine dispose of it mostly to the hasheries of the larger towns, where they are not so particular as in the first-class caravansaries of Reno. The dairymen's war has effected some good already. It has not only exposed grease butter and increased prejudice against its use, but it leads to a few facts in reference to the butter supplied by the dairymen. The opposition will induce them to exercise their best care in the production of butter, and may result in the consumer obtaining sixteen ounces of butter instead of fourteen for a pound. The oleomargarine manufacturers insist that their production is superior to poor milk butter. The fight appears to be between poor milk and what is called oleomargarine. The manufacturers claim that they are Carson's Modesty.

A poet once said: "Man wants but little here below, nor wants that little long." Evidently the poet knew little of man as tound in Carson City. The Carson man, says the Enterprise, wants all on earth below and in heaven above, and wants it to the end of all time. The Appeal of yesterday morning demands that a Government signal station be established at Carson and in the same breath asks Reno to box up the State Insane Asylum, label it Carson City and forward at once. The Tribune seconds the mo tion. These papers ask this on the broad ground of humanity. Reno is said to be malarious, and there is danger of the poor deranged folk getting sick. Carson will next ask the Government to construct a ship canal through the Sierras, setting forth that the great seaport of the Pacific Coast should be near the wonderful footprints of prehistoric man.
